

2011 FACULTY OF HEALTH STAFF AWARDS

We would like to congratulate our academic, general and conjoint staff who received these awards.

Conjoint/Clinical Facilitator Staff Excellence

A/Professor Michael Boyle - School of Biomedical Sciences and Pharmacy

Michael's availability, enthusiasm, flexibility, supportiveness and commitment distinguishes him as an outstanding and much appreciated teacher by both students and staff of the Faculty of Health.

A/Professor June Graham - School of Nursing and Midwifery

Continues to provide unconditional and unwavering support to the School of Nursing and Midwifery, and has been doing so for the past 20 years.

Ms Natasha Lawrence - School of Nursing and Midwifery

A committed and enthusiastic clinical teacher, who effectively guides student learning, supports students through confronting experiences, advocates for students and liaises well with clinical staff.

Teaching and Learning Staff Excellence

Dr Ben Walker - School of Medicine and Public Health

For an outstanding contribution to medical education and the student experience.

Dr Dean Sculley - School of Biomedical Sciences and Pharmacy

Excellence in the provision and support of teaching and learning for students in the Faculty of Health.

Dr Tracy Burrows - School of Health Sciences

Making a difference to student learning outcomes by promoting excellence in teaching across undergraduate and postgraduate domains and fostering excellence in Peer Review of Teaching.

Research Staff Excellence

A/Professor Mark Parsons - School of Medicine and Public Health

His work is resulting in better outcomes for patients suffering from the sometimes devastating impact of stroke, he has pioneered major international advances in imaging based therapy selection and is pioneering new stroke therapies.

Professor Phil Hansbro - School of Biomedical Sciences and Pharmacy

Outstanding and exemplary research achievement during 2010.

Ms Kirstin Dunccliff - School of Medicine and Public Health

Outstanding contribution to the management of research activity and experience of research students within the School.

Casual Teaching Staff Excellence

Mr Malcolm Bourne - School of Health Sciences

Calm and inspirational motivation of students.

Ms Tammie Jones - School of Health Sciences

Continuous excellence in providing essential academic and clinical learning in OHS and risk management, to over 600 commencing students within Health Science programs.

Dr Alexis Hure - School of Health Sciences

Has taught into 10 undergraduate courses over 6 years as a casual academic. Her student evaluations provide evidence of teaching excellence beyond University standards.

International Collaborations Staff Excellence

A/Professor John Hall - School of Medicine and Public Health

Outstanding contribution to the international activities and profile of the Faculty through engagement with international students, links with AusAID and WHO and leadership of collaborative initiatives in Africa.

Indigenous Collaborations Staff Excellence

Ms Josephine Gwynn - School of Medicine and Public Health

Outstanding contribution to building relationships and research capacity with Aboriginal communities through her role as Manager, Research and Evaluation of the Many Rivers Diabetes Prevention Program.

External General Staff Excellence

Ms Merryn Stacey - Program Officer, Student Services

For continuous excellence in providing academic and administrative program support to staff and students within Health Science programs.

Community Engagement Staff Excellence

Ms Jenny Day - School of Nursing and Midwifery

Design and implementation of an outstanding model of field experience for the NURS1102 Primary Health Care which demonstrates a high level of community engagement and collaboration with community partners.

Dr Viv Chuter - School of Health Sciences

Developed strong community partnerships with local area health networks, which deliver innovative learning opportunities for students that benefit service providers and patients.

Dr Paul Tooney - School of Biomedical Sciences and Pharmacy

Acted as an exemplar to staff and students in his commitment to community engagement.

General Staff Excellence

Ms Sheila Proust - School of Medicine and Public Health

Tireless commitment, exceptional knowledge of University processes and good humoured collaboration has made the success of the Joint Medical Program.

Ms Maryanne Quinn - School of Nursing and Midwifery

Provides novel and innovative advice on ways to facilitate the successful placement of a large nursing student cohort.

Ms Deborah Edmunds - School of Biomedical Sciences and Pharmacy

Provides an outstanding service to clients by establishing best practice OH&S while minimising the burden on staff and students.

General Staff Team Excellence

eLearning Team (Ms Amanda Morris, Mr Andrew Dunne, Mr Ben Carter) - School of Nursing and Midwifery

Innovation, expertise and commitment in the delivery of transformative and engaging online learning experiences for both undergraduate and postgraduate students in the School.